North Hampton, N. H., February 20, 1913.

Library Report

Our library work compares favorably with other years. The worn appearance of many of our books show they are put on the shelves for use. Our average weekly loan is from thirty to forty volumes.

Our reference books are of great benefit to the older scholars in school, as they are directed to consult them by their teachers.

When put to the test we are all glad of the information near at hand, if we will take advantage of it.

We have been remembered by friends. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Thaw presented thirty-five volumes of standard authors, embracing books of travel and fiction. Miss Gilman gave the Geographical Magazine for 1912, containing much information concerning our own and foreign lands, also the London Illustrated News with fine pictures, interesting all classes. Our people extend their hearty thanks for the same.

We think it very desirable that our library should be catalogued by an "up-to-date" method before it is much larger.

School Report

To the Citizens of North Hampton:

In the place of a report of the schools, which expresses only the opinion of the School Board, we urge parents and all interested in the welfare of the pupils to visit the schools in person that they may see for themselves the progress which we are convinced is being made under the teachers now in charge of the schools. We particularly urge fathers, who have boys in the higher grades, to give them the encouragement of an occasional visit.

Miss Helen E. Somerby has carried all her enthusiasm into her work in the Grammar school, and has inspired her pupils with a new spirit of loyalty and studiousness which is very evident even to the casual visitor.

Miss Joanna P. Simmons resigned her position in the East school at the close of the winter term, much to the regret of all interested in the school; but her place has been well filled by Miss Alice A. Squire, who has proved a most conscientious teacher, particularly successful with the little ones.

We consider ourselves especially fortunate in securing the services of Miss Caroline F. Pettingell to succeed Miss Somerby in the Primary school, for in spite of the overcrowded condition of her room and its poor lighting and ventilation, she is doing most excellent work in all the grades.

Mr. C. L. Akeley has continued his highly successful work as supervisor of music and drawing.

The boys employed as janitors have proved particularly faithful and painstaking, and their work is highly commended by the teachers.

We wish to thank the parents and citizens who have co-operated with the teachers during the year, and urge the hearty co-operation of all parents to secure the best results for the children.

May we call your attention to some of the urgent reasons for erecting a school building as near as practicable to the geographical centre of the town, that all pupils may share the same advantages?

1. The Primary school-room is overcrowded, poorly lighted, poorly ventilated.

2. The schools at the Centre are almost daily disturbed during the winter term by continuous noises in the hall above.

3. The East school pupils are not now having equal advantages with those attending the Centre schools, and cannot have so long as they are so few in number.

4. With three teachers in one building and but three grades in a room, the pupils would make much better progress than with the present arrangement.

5. Other towns in the vicinity with more pupils and less money per capita are centralizing their schools, and fitting their pupils better for the work of the High school than North Hampton is now doing.

6. The present arrangement will soon leave our schools far behind the times.

It is especially desired that every person in town, entitled to vote on school matters, be present at the meeting of the school district to consider a matter of importance.

In accordance with the school laws, we recommend that the following amounts be raised in addition to what the law requires to be raised for school purposes:

MUSIC AND DRAWING.

I shall speak of this work but briefly, and only in a general way, this year.

The regular teachers have all been very helpful, and good interest has been maintained. This, of course, means progress and success.

Part songs are used largely in the Little River and Centre Grammar Schools, exercises and technical drill work being kept up as it always should.

The bright boys and girls of Miss Pettingell's primary class are ready at all times to give a good account of themselves.

All of the schools are doing well with their drawing, and I am confident that, through this medium, the children are receiving much help in mental development.

I would say to parents, do not remind your child that he can never learn to sing, "for there is no music in our family;" but remember that every normal child can learn to sing, if encouraged and well taught.

Visit your schools as often as you can. You do not realize how much it will help us; and we will give you some music that will well repay you.
